

Juvo Web Creates Fundraising Website to Help Community

PRESS RELEASE – FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE 01/26/2016

Local web development company creates new fundraising website to help Stillwater residents and charities

Juvo Web, a leading web development company in Stillwater for more than 7 years, is giving back to the community by creating a way for residents to raise money for those in Stillwater who are in need.

After the incident that took place at the 2015 OSU homecoming parade, the Juvo team wanted to help the community in some way, to make sure that when tragedy happens the community will have a safe and reliable way to help those in need.

Inspired by other fundraising websites, Juvo Web has created the website I Support Stillwater, which is a local fundraising website that gives organizations and individuals a place to raise money online for their fundraising campaign, for causes such as:

- Tuition
- Adoption costs
- Medical needs
- Memorial funds
- Neighborhood and community needs
- Helping local businesses
- Providing a platform for personal needs

While other, larger fundraising websites exist, I Support Stillwater is designed to showcase local needs, making it easier for them to stand out and get the help they need, making the community of Stillwater a better place to live.

I Support Stillwater is already helping out Stillwater High School's Stillwater Makes a Change (SMAC) program, with the student group being one of the first to test out the website.

Other organizations, such as Stillwater Area United Way, have also come on board in support of the new website, saying it will help them direct new charities towards a reliable platform for them to host their fundraisers, giving both donors and campaign managers a convenient and credible place to create and promote their fundraisers.

"The fact that we now have a website to refer new and independent fundraisers to is a fantastic resource for us as an organization," said Sheri Carter, Stillwater Area United Way Executive Director.

Juvo Web Solutions is a Stillwater web development company that was founded on the principles of serving its community, providing web solutions for businesses across the state of Oklahoma and beyond. Apart from I Support Stillwater, Juvo is also responsible for designing and developing websites for local businesses, such as McKnight Scholars, Oklahoma WONDERtorium museum, and Whisper Intimate Apparel.
